

Our wonderful EYFS environment!

Through the year, we have had lots of different role-play areas and displays in our classroom. At the start of the academic year we read The Colour Monster and displayed our mood monsters to help us learn about emotions.

We have lots of natural resources in the classroom and use stories as the focus for our learning. We read Dogger during our learning about toys. Our toy-shop role-play area supported our learning as well.

Each class has its own reflective area and this is ours. It has prayers, a candle, children's bibles, examples of our RE learning and resources such as Story Stones that can be used to tell Christian stories.

We also learn about different cultural and religious traditions from around Britain and the world. Here is our fireworks display from learning about Bonfire Night and Diwali.

Our art gallery area changes with each season when different natural resources are used to inspire our paintings and drawings.

Our number and maths areas - both inside and outside - encourage number play, counting, number recognition and problem solving. We also develop independence and fine motor skills using a variety of apparatus in challenges.

This is our reading garden; a special place to relax with a book or a puzzle, have phonics or listening group sessions or listen to a story. Here we have voted with cubes for our favourite book.
